Adapting for a More Resilient Enterprise in the Next Normal

Cyber security is a top-of-mind concern for all governments as digital transformation has changed the citizen engagement process. Further, the rapid and innovative development of new technologies threatens to undermine organizations' current cyber security protocols – thus necessitating continuous improvement to risk management protocols and processes. Organizations need to stay agile and responsive to change by ensuring they balance technological improvements with skills upgrades among staff, to ensure a cyber risk ready culture within their organization.

Public Sector Network's Cyber Risk Management in the Digital Era virtual event will provide insights and practical ideas for overcoming the greatest cyber security challenges within your organization. This event will provide a forum to discover strategies and tactics you need to build a culture of resilience and awareness, to help you prepare for your next cyber security threat.
