Evolving Capabilities and Advancing Public Safety

Australian and New Zealand communities are experiencing a period of great adjustment and now more than ever it is important government agencies work together to ensure public safety and collaborative emergency response. Covid-19, crime, natural disasters, cyber threats and the increasing risk of terrorism are just some of the challenges community leaders are facing. With areas of rapid population redistribution adding to the difficulty of predicting resource allocation, up to date emergency preparedness and innovative methods of incident response are crucial to mitigating risk and protecting the public.

The Public Sector Network's 2022 Safer Communities Roadshow will focus on how we can further enhance safety and optimise planning to best protect areas across Australia and New Zealand. By sharing best practice and advancing methods of response and preparedness, agencies can forge a path to a robust defence against threats to safety and security.

The series will head to 6 cities across Australia and New Zealand to benchmark the key challenges faced by the public sector in each state and country. It will provide an opportunity to network and collaborate with leaders in the field and feature speakers who will highlight the latest emerging strategies to mitigate risks and prepare effectively for the biggest issues facing a changing society.

// Benefits of Attending

Network with leaders in community safety and emergency response to share best practice and discuss techniques to address upcoming challenges.

Roundtable 1

Collaborative and Efficient Emergency Response to Enhance Incident Management

Collaboration across emergency services allows for the most efficient response to incidences and helps keep the public safe. This roundtable will focus on enhancing the methods of collaboration and communication within these agencies. It will discuss the critical technology that can assist in emergency incidents and improving practices to help keep frontline staff safe.

Facilitated by Julian Fox, Digital Transformation Director - Public Safety, Fujitsu Australia

Roundtable 2

Leveraging situational awareness technology for more effective inter-agency incident and disaster response

In this roundtable session, we will look to:

- Identify the biggest challenges and constraints to inter-agency responses in critical incidents today
- Discuss how COVID changed the way agencies work together and lessons learnt from this period
- Talk through ways that agencies can take their existing technology like UAVs, in-vehicle cameras, and body cameras from passive evidence capture to real-time awareness tools
- Consider the ability to share live streams and real-time information seamlessly across agencies and jurisdictions in the context of incident and disaster response and what that would look like.

Facilitated by Jackson Fogerty, Regional Sales Manager, Axon Public Safety

11:40am Panel Discussion: Understanding Potential Risks to Prioritise, Adapt and Build Resilience

- What are our greatest risks - what are the warning signs?
- How to prioritise the greatest threats to your community
- Adapting to change - when to shift your focus
- What does preparedness look like - implementing strategies for resilience

Michael Jay, Superintendent, Fire and Rescue NSW
