Course Overview

Are you a new manager and finding it hard to adjust to managing a team?

Were you a high-performing specialist and presently find yourself struggling with the feeling of a loss of control that comes with managing other people?

Do you find yourself stuck when it comes to creating accountability, credibility and trust among your former peers?

If you answered yes to one or more of these questions, you are not alone. According to a recent study:

- 26% of first-time managers felt they were not ready to lead others to begin with.
- Almost 60% said they never received any training when they transitioned into their first leadership role.

This course is a perfect kick-start to your management career. It has been developed for new managers and will help you transition from teammate to highly capable and successful leader. With a mix of management principles, coaching and motivation, practical operational managerial tasks and interactive group exercises – this course will provide you with actionable skills that enable you to mitigate the challenges of being a new leader.

You will learn ways to build credibility and trust, you'll discover how to cultivate positive workplace relationships, provide direction and motivate your team with clear objectives in mind. You will also learn about different leadership styles and practice assessing situations, so you can choose and apply 'best fit' leadership styles.

Learning Outcomes

- Identify the obstacles faced by new managers and mitigative steps that you can take to overcome them
- Learn how to build trust and credibility with clear and effective communication
- Understand how you can motivate your team with collaborative goal setting
- Gain insights on how to deliver constructive feedback and create accountability
- Start building your leadership brand and set up an ongoing development plan
- Create a positive work environment that drives productivity and promotes well-being

Why Attend

- Smoothen your transition from team member to team leader
- Build essential leadership and management skills to become an effective team leader

Malcolm Dawes is the most sought-after authority on people performance and effectiveness. He is a recognised expert in showing people how to increase their interaction effectiveness through behavioural change. For many years, Malcolm has experienced first-hand the struggles senior executives face with accelerating the performance of their teams. More recently he has worked with organisations on emotional intelligence and resilience through the global pandemic.

Malcolm has appeared on a host of radio and TV interviews; in The Australian Financial Review Business Magazine and had articles published in numerous journals. Malcolm has been a guest speaker at conferences and seminars around the world; and has been a judge of the PRIME Awards since their inception in 2005.

Married and a father of three sons, his career has included many disciplines including retail, nursing, marketing, sales management and organisational performance. In his spare time, he is a Deputy Captain with the New South Wales Rural Fire Service; being awarded with the National Emergency Medal for his service in the 2019/20 Australian bush fire crisis.

In his latest book "Team Performance: Why Can't We All Get Along?" Malcolm dispels ten myths that many senior executives have about unlocking the true potential of their teams. He highlights the core issues of human nature and shows how understanding behaviours as a leader and coworker is the key to team success.
